Background

SFAR 77 was issued October 16, 1996, as a safety precaution for flights over the territory of Iraq. The FAA now anticipates that when hostilities are ended, humanitarian efforts may be needed to assist the people of Iraq. In order to facilitate these humanitarian efforts, the FAA standardizes the language traditionally used for permitted operations over restricted flight areas.

The FAA amends SFAR 77 to eliminate a technical inaccuracy in the current SFAR, namely that another agency could allow persons covered by paragraph 1 to operate into Iraq without prior FAA approval. Because the FAA is responsible for the safety of U.S. air carriers, U.S. commercial operators, U.S. registered aircraft, and airmen relying on US issued airman certificates, the FAA must be the final decisionmaker as to whether it is appropriate to waive the applicability of this SFAR in certain situations.
